WAR HANGS OVER COLONY

Suspicious Military Activity Over The Border

Carrier Pigeons Save Crew

GERMAN STEAMER WRECKED

Gotenburg, To-day.
Carrier pigeons played a decisive part in the rescue of the crew of the German steamer "Erika," which had gone ashore on a reef near Skagen.

With the wireless out of order the ship had no means of communication except for a number of pigeons on board.

These were released with an S.O.S. message attached.

Only one bird, as far as is known, succeeded in reaching land, getting as far as Gotenburg.

A Danish salvage tug was immediately sent out to assist the wrecked German vessel.—Trans-Ocean.

QUEEN MARIE'S ILLNESS

No Cause For Alarm

Bucharest, To-day.
A bulletin states that Queen Marie of Rumania, following decline of her attack of influenza, has developed slight symptoms of haemorrhage in the stomach.

This necessitates rest and a suitable diet.

Official Court circles state there is no cause for alarm.—Reuter.

FRENCH DEFENCE LOAN

Paris, To-day.
The second portion of the French Defence Loan has been fixed at 3,000,000,000 francs on the same conditions as the first portion of the loan.

Subscription lists will close on March 25.—Reuter.

TROOPS MOVE TO MEET MENACE

The menace of war hangs over the Colony to-day. While the rupture in relations between Redland (Hong Kong) and Blueand has not yet developed to the stage of actual hostilities, military authorities regard the present quiet as merely the lull before the storm.

SIGNS OF A GATHERING OF FORCES BY BLUELAND, IN ALLIANCE WITH NORTHLAND, TO BEGIN EARLY ON-SLAUGHT ARE NOT LACKING.

During Sunday, Blue aircraft repeatedly flew over Red territory. Consequently it was decided at a Red meeting during the night 14/15 March to institute at once the precautions necessary to resist any attacks which might be launched by Blueand and/or by Northland.

A. A. DETENCES MANNED
In accordance with orders then issued, the Fixed and Anti-Aircraft defences were manned at once and continuous watch is being kept by night and day.

The Seaforth Highlanders fully deployed on the Island, and the Royal Ulster Rifles and Royal Welch Fusiliers, supported by the batteries of the Hong Kong Brigade, Royal Artillery deployed into prepared positions across the Mainland from Port Shelter through Tide Cove to Gin Drinkers Bay. All these troops were in position by nightfall yesterday.

Blue aircraft continued occasionally to circle over Redland but committed no other hostile act.

Red aircraft carried out reconnaissance over sea and land. A dusk air reconnaissance revealed no Blue vessels within 200 miles.

AERODROME OVER BORDER
A dawn air reconnaissance this morning revealed activity at an aerodrome 20 miles north of the frontier and a body of troops—possibly with no hostile intent—advancing westward along the northern shores of Mira Bay.

As a precaution against trans-frontier attack, the Kumaon Rifles and a mountain battery were railed to Fanling in the early hours this morning. Local fog prevented effective Red reconnaissance seaward.

Unfortunately for the Colony, a serious outbreak of influenza has prevented the effective immediate mobilization of her Naval and Military Volunteer forces. It is hoped, however, that a certain number will be fit for duty some time tomorrow.

SUSPECT CRUISER
It was reported last night by a very reliable European resident at Repulse Bay that a Blue cruiser with lights out passed through the East Lamma Channel last night. We understand that she was not detected by Red lookouts, but increased activity has been ordered this morning.

Reports by Hong Kong Police Posts all over Redland are coming in to the satisfaction of the Military authorities.

FOOD PRECAUTIONS

Air Raids precautionary measures are being put into action by the Air Raids Commandant. The Chairman of the Food Committee is putting into force his plan for the collection and conservation of available food stocks.

Tientsin Shooting Incident

THREE KOREANS KILLED

TIENTSIN, TO-DAY.
STRONG DEMANDS BY JAPAN TO CHINA ARE PREDICTED BY THE JAPANESE NEWSPAPERS HERE.

This follows a shooting affair at Chinchow, a town between Tientsin and Tsangchow, on March 12 when Chinese police fired on two truck-loads of sugar which were escorted by Koreans.

One truck escaped and returned to Tientsin but the second crashed owing to a bullet-bursting a tyre.

Two of three Koreans in the truck were killed.

Chinese reports allege that the Chinese police mistook the smugglers for bandits.—Reuter.

LOCAL WEATHER FORECAST

The Royal Observatory reports that an irregular anti-cyclone of moderate intensity covers China and Mongolia; the depression is moving eastward across Hokkaido. Forecast:—N.E. winds, moderate; cloudy with drizzle or mist, probably improving.

RETURN OF CAPITAL TO SHARE HOLDERS

The Annual General Meeting of the Vibro Piling Company Limited was held at the Hong Kong Hotel yesterday.

There were present Messrs. S. M. Churn (Chairman) J. J. Basto and the Hon. Dr. R. H. Kotewall (Directors), F. E. D'Almada Remedios (Secretary) and E. W. Blackmore, C. H. Basto, Lam Shu Chuen, Lo Pang Tin, Yeung Pok, L. Weill, M. Weill and L. G. Ribeiro (Shareholders).

The Chairman said: Gentlemen, from the Profit and Loss Account you will have observed that after providing for depreciation in the sum of $7,379.70, the net profit for the year amounts to $25,842.76, a showing which I feel certain you will concur with me is highly satisfactory.

Turning to the Balance Sheet, I think you will find that this statement is very straight-forward and hardly requires any comment except perhaps, the observation that the items Investment on First Mortgage shown at $30,000.00, Secured Loans at $21,000.00 and Cash in hand at $55,386.37, reflect in a very vivid manner the excessive capital on hand. However, as this feature of our situation will be dealt with fully at the Extraordinary Meeting which is to take place after the present Meeting, I will defer until further reference to it until then.

Of the Accounts Receivable shown at $21,059.40, only $3000 remains unpaid at date, this sum being the retention money of one of the Contracts completed last year. We expect the release of this retention sometimes next month.

I would like to avail of this opportunity to tell shareholders that the year through which we are now passing has started under very encouraging conditions, and I have every reason to hope that when we next meet it will be possible to present as favourable a showing.

With these remarks, Gentlemen, I formally propose that the Report and Accounts as presented, including the recommendation to transfer $26,514.17 from Profit and Loss Account to Plant and Machinery Account be adopted.

The motion was seconded by Mr. L. Weill and carried unanimously.

The Hon. Dr. Kotewall was re-elected a Director for the ensuing year, whilst Messrs. Lowe, Bingham & Matthews were re-elected Auditors.

Return of Capital
Immediately after the above Meeting, an Extraordinary General Meeting of the Company was held to consider a Resolution to reduce the Capital of the Company by paying off $2.00 per share on each of the 32300 shares issued.

The Chairman addressed shareholders as follows:

The Company commenced operations early in January 1930 with an issued Capital of $70,750.00, with one Plant and a working capital of approximately $25,000.00. After a few months the need of an additional Plant was felt, and the issued capital was increased to $105,000.00 for the purpose of acquiring this second Plant.

In 1931 we made an investment in the Shanghai Company to operate the "Vibro" system in that field. This investment was made partly from profits and partly through an increase in capital. Unfortunately, however, the Shanghai Company proved a failure, and the whole of the investment has since been written off from profits.

It is mainly on this account, Gentlemen, that the Company finds itself today in possession of a Capital very much in excess of its needs, and inasmuch as you will have gleaned from the circular letter addressed to you that the proposed reduction of Capital would not in any way impair the profit earning capacity of the Company, your Board, after the fullest consideration, has come to the conclusion that the best interest of shareholders, as well as the Company, would be served by returning $2.00 per share on the 32300 issued shares of the Company.

Nominal Capital Reduced

With these observations, Gentlemen, I formally propose the adoption of the following Resolution:

"That the nominal Capital of the Company be reduced from $215,000.00 divided into 43000 shares of $5.00 each to $150,400.00 divided into 10700 shares of $5.00 each and 32300 shares of $3.00 each and that such reduction be effected by returning paid up capital to the extent of $2.00 per share to the shareholders of the 32300 shares of $5.00 each which have been issued."

I shall be pleased if someone would second the motion.

The Resolution was seconded by Mr. L. G. Ribeiro and was carried unanimously, after which the Chairman announced that the necessary legal steps to give effect to the Resolution would be taken forthwith.

THE WORLD GOES BY

HERE is a neat little communication recently circulated in the offices of a certain Hollywood film corporation.

"Inter office memorandum. Will members of the staff please note that Frank Prince will hereafter be known as Fred Lawrence instead of George Wells. (This refers to Frank Prinz).—Publicity Director."

It reminds me of a celebrated artist whose real name was Green, but who worked under the name of Heywood, until he found there really was an artist called Heywood, so he signed himself De Falla.

He says that if anybody called De Falla turns up, he's going back on the Green standard.

Fashion Notes

A cute fashion snoop from Berlin reports that "A new and improved type of steel helmet has been introduced in the German Army. It weighs between two and two and a half pounds, according to size. This is seven ounces less than the old type."

"The edge is set somewhat higher so that the eyes and ears are freer than before. The helmets are made of steel plate."

Really smart folk who want to be "ever so" should make a point of wearing these natty hats in fashionable Hong Kong dug-outs.

SHANGHAI GIRL'S SUICIDE

Miss May Caroline Thompson, 24 years old, died in the Paulun Hospital in Shanghai shortly after she had been admitted suffering from poison.

Miss Thompson, who was British and a well-known swimmer and general athlete, was found dying in the bathroom of her parents residence, in Lane 215, Medhurst Road, at 7.30 a.m., a drained disinfectant bottle beside her.

She was taken to hospital in an ambulance and expired shortly afterward. An autopsy was performed. H. M. Coroner's inquest was adjourned till to-day.

PROMINENT IN SPORTS

Miss Thompson had been prominent in sports and athletic activities in Shanghai for a number of years. One of the best swimmers and divers among the ladies, she was a valuable member of the Foreign Y.M.C.A. team and held records at various times.

She was also an enthusiastic tennis player, representing the Rowing Club in the women's league, of which she was secretary for a time.

Hockey was another interest of Miss Thompson's. She was prominent in league play in Shanghai during the past few seasons.

She was employed by the office of the Athletic Director, Foreign Y.M.C.A., for the last several years.

BRITISH & GERMAN SAILORS

Fraternising At Gibraltar

A detachment of German sailors from the "pocket battleship" Deutschland attended the funeral in Gibraltar of Able-Seaman John Francis Turner, of H.M.S. Cairo.

Able-Seaman Turner, who died after a short illness in the military hospital, was unmarried and a native of Hull.

The Deutschland also sent a detachment to the funeral of another naval rating, Leading Stoker James Green, of H.M.S. Nelson, who also died in the military hospital. He was married and came from Norwich.

A party of German officers and men laid a wreath on the graves of officers and men of H.M.S. Britannia, which was torpedoed and sunk in the Straits of Gibraltar on November 10, 1918.

Presentation

"Mr. Martin, who presided, said that the presentation was being made to Mr. Firmin for all his work in the parish for fifty-five years. Mr. Firmin, in replying, said that the present they had given him would always remind him of his associations with St. Leonard's. He mentioned that the choir had presented him with a smoking cabaret."

CIVIL AVIATION IN BRITAIN

SIR P. SASSOON'S SURVEY

EMPIRE AIR-MAIL SCHEME

London, To-day.

In reviewing developments in British external civil air communications, Sir Philip Sassoon said in the House of Commons last night that the present condition was that the Empire air mail scheme should be in working order at the beginning of 1938, whereafter all first-class mail from the United Kingdom to Empire countries on Empire air routes, would be carried by air for a flat rate of 1½d. per half ounce, that being the current preferential Empire postage rate.

Meanwhile, it was hoped that a start would be made on the Durban route in the early summer of this year and on the Singapore route at the end of the year.

The complete scheme aims at providing flying-boat services on routes to South Africa, India and Australia, with certain additional land plane services to India, all operated by the new Empire aircraft.

FEEDER SERVICES

Arrangements are being made for feeder services in connexion with all the routes.

Concerning the proposed North-Atlantic service, the formidable task of providing the necessary ground organisation and equipment was being actively pursued and the bases for both the land and marine aircraft were in hand by the Governments concerned.

As regards aircraft, three main lines of trans-Atlantic development were in hand. Four-engined high speed land machines were on the point of completion, with which it was hoped to operate experimental services before end of this year.

SPECIAL FLYINGBOATS

A fleet of specially designed flyingboats should be available in the course of 1938. The possibilities of catapulting long-range flyingboats was being actively investigated. Meanwhile long-range training flights had begun with two flying boats of the Empire type.

Among new British external services introduced in 1936 were the weekly mail service between Khartoum and Kana and Lagos and the temporary service between Penang and Hong Kong, pending the completion of arrangements for a permanent connection. — British Wireless.

WAR HORRORS FILMED

A private view was recently given in London of an uncut version of Pathe Newsreel scenes of the war in Spain. The newsreel, properly edited, was shown in many cinemas. In the form in which it arrived from Spain the film will probably never be exhibited in public.

Presented badly, without titles or commentary, it revealed the horror of warfare in a land where human beings butcher each other with

“TOMFOOLERY” OF THE CORONATION

Says Sir Stafford Cripps

Sir Stafford Cripps, K.C., M.P., chairman of the Socialist League, addressing a United Front demonstration in Bristol, attacked the Government's rearmament programme. He said:

“All sorts of excuses are being given why we should uphold rearmament, including the old-fashioned ‘For God, King and Country’ patriotism, assisted by all the tomfoolery of jubilees and coronations.

“All these affairs and complexes are brought to bear upon the mind of the people to try to array the Labour forces behind the National Government.”

Speaking of the United Front Campaign, Sir Stafford said: “The great Labour movement seems to be sinking into a position of ineffectiveness. We must do something quickly to revive the spirit of the movement and re-create the militant challenge which seems to be frowned upon by those in control.

“The cloak of safe respectability is a very fitting garment for the hangers-on of capitalism, but it is most unsuitable for a class-conscious workers' party.”

unrelieved savagery.

The scenes obtained by a cameraman with Gen. Franco's forces also belong to the world of nightmare. Here are executed Government troops lying in twos and threes in the fields and in dozens against walls.

Evidence of atrocities on the other side is not lacking. One scene shows a prison cell containing bodies, into which petrol had been thrown, apparently by retreating Government troops.

BRIDGE NOTES

By ELY CULBERTSON

Beware The Greeks!

I am passionately fond of statistics, both vital and frivolous. Among the numberless things that I would like to know is this: How many times during a day is the plaintive wail, "I guessed wrong," uttered by contract players scattered over the face of the globe? And my burning curiosity would next be directed to the question: Of these "unfortunate guesses," how many really were necessary? It has been my own experience that the phrase is used about ten times too often.

To-day's hand is just another instance of a bad play that was glossed over by the declarer as "a bad guess."

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 club	Double	Pass	1 heart
Pass	2 spades	Pass	3 hearts
Pass	4 spades (final bid)

East's original bid was skimpy. The two and one-half outside tricks hardly could compensate for his miserable club suit.

West opened the club queen. Declarer won and promptly ruffed his low club in dummy. He then took the spade finesse through East, capturing the king, and ran off the entire spade suit except for one card. With six cards left in each hand he led a small diamond toward the dummy. West played low, and East captured the jack four spades.

with the ace, after which East returned a low club. Declarer was delighted with this lead; he had been wondering how to manoeuvre so as to be able to finesse against the missing jack of clubs, and here was East "dropping the chance in his lap."

His dismay when the ten of clubs was captured by the jack from West's hand had to be seen to be appreciated. When he learned, as he did almost immediately, that the jack could have been felled by the king play, he was not nearly so pleased, but he comforted himself somewhat with the announcement that it had been "just a guess."

His partner disagreed emphatically, and was quite correct to do so. As he pointed out, East could not have been in a position where a club lead was forced. He had to have a card of exit. That he had chosen to lead a club was proof positive that he did not fear a finesse in the suit against himself, that, on the contrary, the club lead had been made to lure the declarer into a losing finesse. This was flawless reasoning.

East, of course, could have exited with a heart or a diamond, but he realized that either of these plays eventually would force the declarer to lead clubs from his own hand. If West had the jack it must be blank at this stage and would drop. The only way to avoid this would be to present declarer with the seemingly heaven sent opportunity of finessing. Obviously, if East really had had the protected club jack he would not have led the suit and the contract could not have been made.

AIR FORCE ESTIMATES

Home Squadrons More Than Doubled In Two Years

Pushing Rapidly Ahead With New Machines

London, To-day.

"We have not abandoned hope of securing an air pact and general stabilisation of air armaments," declared Sir Philip Sassoon, Under-Secretary for Air, introducing the Air Estimates in the House of Commons yesterday.

"WE REGARD REALISATION OF AN AIR PACT AS OF PARAMOUNT IMPORTANCE AND WE ARE EAGER TO SEIZE THE FIRST OPPORTUNITY TO ACHIEVE IT.

"UNTIL SUCH OPPORTUNITY OFFERS WE HAVE NO CHOICE BUT TO PROCEED WITH OUR PLANS.

"WE BELIEVE THAT THE BRITISH AIR FORCE IS STRONG, READY AND WELL-EQUIPPED, AND IS ONE OF THE BEST CONTRIBUTIONS OUR COUNTRY CAN MAKE TO WORLD PEACE."

As regards the adequacy of £32,000,000 in total estimates of 1936, the Government's programme, said Sir Philip, they had many sources of information, which could not be divulged, upon which the programme was based.

He assured the House that the supply of personnel was entirely satisfactory. During the coming year it was intended to train 1,175 pilots.

The Air Force were getting the right type of recruit.

STRIKING POWER GREATER

Except for larger aircraft, the Fleet air arm monoplane had almost entirely been replaced by a biplane, and the net result was that the striking power of the new types far surpassed that of corresponding types two years ago.

Active research and development were continually striving to obtain machines of an even greater speed, range and load capacity.

Two new guns had been introduced, one a new type Vickers and the other a Browning gun which would be manufactured in Britain.

Sir Philip Sassoon disclosed that large-scale production had more than halved the time of manufacture of the new machine.

Compared with 53 home squadrons in 1935, they would have 124 squadrons in a few months' time.

LABOUR RESOLUTION

A Labour motion for abolition of aerial warfare and international control of civil aviation was rejected by 175 votes to 119.

Sir Philip Sassoon, replying in the debate on the motion, emphasised that the Government would seize any opportunity to achieve abolition of aerial warfare, but stressed the difficulty of devising a practicable scheme for control of civil aviation.—Reuter.

LARGEST EVER

The air estimates were the largest ever presented to Parliament and their total £82,500,000, including loan provision, compares with an average figure of £18,000,000 asked for by the Ministry in previous years. It shows increase of nearly

Sir Philip said that Air Force expansion was not merely a question of making good a deficiency. It meant practically the trebling of the Force as well as rearming it with modern equipment. Aircraft and aero engines could be produced with increasing speed as experience of production was gained and as new plants came into operation but a considerable period was absolutely necessary to train really skilled pilots and navigators. During the coming financial year they intended to train 1,175 pilots.

NEW RECRUITS

They planned in 1936 to recruit over 11,000 airmen, including 2,656 apprentices and boy entrants. Present figures indicated that these hopes would be fully realised. They hoped to recruit a slightly larger number during the coming year.

Referring to Dominion co-operation, he said there was in operation a scheme whereby pilots were trained as cadets in the Royal Australian Air Force and then serve a term of years with the Air Force in Britain. Afterwards they reverted to the Royal Australian Air Force reserve.

New Zealand was establishing a similar scheme and also a system whereby candidates who applied for the Royal Air Force were medically examined locally.

The Government would welcome the adoption of a similar system by Canada, from which Dominion no fewer than 100 young men had come on their own and had been accepted for short service commissions.

After dealing with the satisfactory progress made regarding aerodromes, works and buildings, Sir Philip Sassoon passed on to the problems of the production of adequate supplies of equipment.

Except for the larger aircraft of the fleet air arm, a monoplane which approached most nearly to the ideal streamline form had almost entirely replaced the biplane.

The difficulties of providing wings of adequate stiffness to

Terrible Pearl Fleet Disaster Feared

Darwin, To-day.

There has been no news of 270 Japanese and 180 Australian pearl luggers which have been missing since March 10, when a cyclone which was the worst for forty years, struck Darwin during the night. It is feared the fleet has been totally destroyed.—Reuter.

resist twisting and bending had delayed this change for many years. They had now been overcome by various methods of stressed skin construction.

The Government, however, were far from resting content with the design of the new machines.

Active research and development were continually in progress with a view to obtaining machines of even greater speed, range and load capacity.

Active research continued to exploit still further the advantages of higher quality fuel.

NEW ENGINE

Tests of an aero-engine which gives substantial reduction in maintenance as well as a more rapid production and better performance, had been most encouraging and it was about to go for service trials.

Finally, over the whole field of aircraft components, accessory equipment, wireless apparatus, great emphasis was being placed on standardisation of types and simplicity of design with the object of assisting quantity production.

The Air Ministry were doing their utmost to expedite the production of aircraft and were aiming at reducing the number of types. He described the policy regarding shadow factories as a practical policy which not only created a war potential but also reinforced production and did not interfere with normal industry.

Satisfactory progress, he said, was being made with the erection of factories both for the production of airframes and aeroengines.

A careful review was made of the requirements in raw materials, of which there would be the risk of a shortage in time of war. Arrangements had already been made for the purchase of reserve stocks of certain essential products.

Provision was being made for obtaining adequate reserves of petrol and oil and for storing them in places least accessible to air attack.—British Wireless.

MOTION CARRIED

A Government motion to conclude the general discussion on the Air Estimates was carried by 210 votes to 94.

Sir Thomas Inskip, winding up for the Government, declared that there was no reason to suppose that the programme would not be completed by the end of 1939, which was the date originally suggested, as far as the number of squadrons was concerned.—Reuter.

Japanese Activity In Drug Traffic

LONDON, TO-DAY. THE BRITISH CONSULAR AND OTHER AUTHORITIES ARE PERIODICALLY FURNISHED WITH INFORMATION IN REGARD TO SMUGGLING OF DRUGS INTO CHINA BY JAPANESE NATIONALS.

This was announced by the Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, Viscount Cranborne, in reply to a question from Lt.-Com. R. T. H. Fletcher, Labour Member for Nuneaton.

Lord Cranborne further said that the information was supplied to the British Government's representative on the League opium advisory committee for such action as may seem useful and desirable, and the question of publicity was determined by the League.

He understood that in practice the proceedings and reports of the committee were published.

CONSTANT STUDY

Lt.-Com. Fletcher then declared there were many circumstantial reports that the Japanese authorities were actively encouraging this traffic between Chinese nationals.

Lord Cranborne, in reply, gave the assurance that the Government was keeping the whole subject under constant examination.—Reuter.

SHAMEEN BRIDGE COLLAPSE

CRASHES INTO CREEK

THE EAST BRIDGE CONNECTING SHAMEEN WITH THE SHAKKEE BUND COLLAPSED INTO THE CREEK WITH A SHATTERING CRASH YESTERDAY EVENING, ACCORDING TO A BRIEF MESSAGE TELEPHONED TO HONG KONG THIS MORNING.

Fortunately, as far as is known, no-one was on the bridge at the time of the collapse and there were no casualties.

Only two broken ends reveal where the bridge once stood, though the mishap was not altogether unexpected as the bridge has been in bad shape for a considerable time. Repair work has recently been in progress.

Later.

The bridge was built of cement and was completed in 1919.

Cracks appeared in the centre some time ago and wooden piles were erected underneath to lend support, though the final collapse was looked upon as inevitable.

The Shameen Municipal Council is building a temporary wooden bridge.

Smuggling In North China

LONDON, TO-DAY.

THERE HAS BEEN A SUCCESSIVE DIMINUTION IN THE VALUE AND VOLUME OF SMUGGLING IN NORTH CHINA.

So declared the Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, Lord Cranborne, in replying to a question from Mr. A. C. Moreing, Conservative Member for Preston, in the House of Commons yesterday.

Mr. Moreing drew attention to a report that in three months over 1,500 lorries had passed the Customs barriers under Japanese protection.

Lord Cranborne replied that the Government was fully aware that there had been smuggling but repeated that there had been a sensible diminution.—Reuter.

Oil El Dorado In Trinidad

WAITING TO BE TAPPED

Port-of-Spain (Trinidad),

To-day.

Sir John Cadman, Chairman of the Anglo-Persian Oil Company and the Iraq Petroleum Company, declared yesterday that Trinidad's main oil resources were not yet even tapped.

Sir John spoke on the eve of his departure after a fortnight's investigation into the colony's oil resources.

He stated the opinion that the present supply, which makes Trinidad the largest producer of petroleum in the Empire, was furnished merely by seepage from prolific oil-bearing rocks below.

Sir John emphasised that Trinidad should be a naval and air base of Empire, and pointed out that the land-locked harbour offered a strategic position in respect of oil supply.—Reuter.

CRAZY BELTS

THE latest things to go crazy — in Fashion — are your belts.

You can attach your belt to a pair of scissors (imitation), a couple of purses (real), miniature handcuffs, large nails or a watch. In fact, it's a wonder no one has thought of decorating herself with her name and her game and her telephone number — to save time.

Anyway, here are a few of the less crazy — and therefore smarter — notions in new belts which you can easily and quickly make up for yourself for a mere nothing.

"NO TRUMPS" BELT

For this you'll require: Quarter of a yard of felt and two squares of different coloured felts suggested colours, bright blue for the belt, red and black for the squares, which make the decorations.

Cut a large diamond $3\frac{1}{2}$ in. square out of your red square.

Now mark out the strip for your belt on the blue felt, making it $3\frac{1}{2}$ in. wide and the length of your waist measurement plus 3 in.

Pin the red diamond to one end so that it overlaps 3 in., and cut out the strip cutting round the diamond at one end.

From the remainder of the blue felt cut another strip the same way, place these two blue strips one on top of the other and stitch them together close to the edges.

Sew the red diamond over the diamond-shaped plastron of the belt, and on top of that a smaller "spade" in black felt. Cut out small diamonds, hearts, clubs and spades from the rest of the red and black felt and stitch them all over the belt. Sew hooks (under the plastron) and eyes (on top of the other end) for fastening.

"PEARLY QUEEN" BELT

Buy a quarter of a yard felt, six dozen pearl buttons. Make the felt belt as before, but this time cut the length to the exact measurement of your waist and leave a piece about 5 in. long the full width of the felt (this is to make the plastron in front) at one end of the belt. Stitch on the pearl buttons, either all over the belt as close as possible, or if you can't afford all that, just along the edges. For the plastron, arrange the buttons in a design such as you see in the photograph. This belt also looks very fine sewn all over with regimental buttons, or with tiny silver lucky charms.

FOUR-CORD BELT

This requires one yard each of four different colours of silk cord and two 9 in. squares of embroidery felt.

Suggested colours: Royal, cyclamen, purple and black with black felt. Cut each cord to fit your waist plus an extra 2 in. (for the fringe).

From the felt cut out four oblongs, each measuring 6 in. by $2\frac{1}{2}$ in. Join the $2\frac{1}{2}$ in. sides. Slip these circles of felt over the cords and stitch the felt together between each cord, making a little tube for each. Slide one piece of felt along to one end and machine along the short side, catching in the ends of the cords. Slide another piece to the other end, stitch it down 2 in. from the ends of the cords and fray the ends into a fringe. Arrange the last two pieces at equal distances.

Sew hooks and eyes on the end felt pieces for fastening.

LACED BELT

Get for this: Quarter of a yard felt, two yards each of two different coloured blind cords.

Cut the felt lengthways into four equal strips. Place two strips one on top of the other and machine them together round the edges; do the same with the other two strips.

Pierce little holes at 1 in. intervals down one long side of each strip. Thread the cords criss-cross into the holes, joining together the two strips into a belt. To fasten, tie the cord ends into a bow in front and sew hooks and eyes at the top and bottom corners of the belt.

You can either make this belt with the felt in one colour and the cords in two (such as black felt with emerald and scarlet cords), or you can make the belt in two strips of different colours and lace them together with cord of one colour (such as royal and black felt laced with scarlet).

BRITONS TO SURRENDER PERPETUAL LEASES IN JAPAN

Anglo-Japanese Negotiations Achieve Agreement

Keelung Incident Discussions

London, To-day.

An agreement has now been reached on the question of cancellation of perpetual leases held by British subjects in the Japanese Treaty ports.

THIS ANSWER WAS OBTAINED FROM THE UNDER-SECRETARY FOR FOREIGN AFFAIRS, VISCOUNT CRANBORNE, IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS YESTERDAY FOLLOWING A QUESTION BY SIR CHARLES CAYZER, CONSERVATIVE MEMBER FOR CHESTER.

Sir Charles Cayzer asked whether as a result of the counter-proposals submitted to the Japanese Government by the British Ambassador in Tokyo a settlement satisfactory to the British leaseholders' committee had now been reached concerning cancellation of perpetual leases in treaty ports held by British subjects.

In replying in the affirmative, Lord Cranborne said that the agreement had been reached on the basis of proposals presented by the British Ambassador.

He was expecting shortly to hear that Notes had been exchanged between the Ambassador and the Japanese Foreign Minister giving effect to the agreement.

KEELUNG INCIDENT

Replying to a further question by Sir Charles Cayzer, the Under-Secretary said that no settlement had yet been reached as regards the Keelung incident, but the matter was being actively discussed between the Ambassador in Tokyo and the Japanese Foreign Minister.—Reuter.

STRUCK MOTHER WITH STOOL

Too lazy to work and unable to obtain money from his widowed mother, Tsui Kau, aged 27, assaulted her in the hope that she would then give him some. Instead she reported the matter to the Police and this morning he appeared before Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistracy and was fined $300 or three months' hard labour.

Complainant said her son demanded $20 and when refused he struck her with a stool and injured her head. He also threatened to throw acid over her.

Defendant smoked opium and refused to work. She had offered him a job in her store but he would not take it.

FORTHCOMING WEDDINGS

The forthcoming marriage of Mr. Sydney Ellis Edgar, broker, of No. 455, The Peak, and Miss Dolores Paterson, of No. 92, Nathan Road, has been announced.

Miss Kathleen Vera Wardill, of "Highfields," Bridlington, England, has also announced her forthcoming marriage to Mr. John Geoffrey James, of Bacolod, Occ. Negros, Philippine Islands.

OFFICER CHARGED

Sequel To Fatal Accident

Three charges were preferred against Lieut. Baker-Carr, R.A., at the Central Magistracy this morning, arising out of a fatal accident which occurred in King's Road yesterday morning.

He was charged with driving car No. 1889 without due care and caution in King's Road, near Lau Liu Street, and with having inefficient brakes. He was also charged with not having an appropriate driver's licence.

Defendant pleaded not guilty to the first two charges but admitted the last.

The case was fixed for hearing for Thursday March 25 at 11.30 a.m., bail in the sum of $500 being allowed.

Traffic-Inspector Saunders, outlining the police case, said that defendant knocked down a Chinese near Lau Liu Street. The man died about four hours later. The road was well lit. When the brakes were tested they were found to be bad. The man was knocked down about 12 feet from the left side of the road.

MISS BERYL FAIR SUMMONED

Denial Of Police Allegations

Appearing on behalf of Miss D. Beryl Fair, Mr. W. A. MacKinlay pleaded not guilty to a summons for driving in a dangerous manner in Hennessy Road on March 1.

The case was adjourned till Thursday, March 25.

Traffic-Sergeant Wass said he followed defendant's car, which was travelling at 20 miles an hour in Queen's Road East to Arsenal Street, whence she turned into Hennessy Road and proceeded to O'Brien Road at a speed of 34 miles an hour.

Near O'Brien Road, several people had to jump out of the way and defendant had to swerve to miss a pedestrian.

Mr. MacKinlay denied that any persons had to jump out of the way of his client or that she had at any time to swerve the car.

NAVAL DOCKYARD ATTACK

Chinese Charged With Manslaughter

Charged with the manslaughter of a fellow worker named Ah Hung, a 21-year-old paint scraper, Wong Chuen, appeared before the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor this morning.

The following jurors were empanelled: Messrs. J. McCormack (Foreman), F. M. Britto, R. Pang, Chan Yew-ho, E. R. Hearther, George Y. K. Sun and W. M. Gittins.

Mr. E. H. Williams stated that both accused and deceased were paint scrapers in the naval dockyard. Deceased, accused and another man, Ah Kee, had a quarrel in the dockyard. Ah Kee struck the deceased, after which he shouted out to the deceased that it was Ah Chuen, the accused, who had struck him. The quarrel was resumed when the men finished work at 5 p.m. An hour later when the deceased returned to his home, blows were exchanged with the accused, who was forced to run away. Apparently accused resented this beating and returned later with a party of men.

The men grappled with him and assaulted him.

Deceased later returned to the kitchen, drank some water and collapsed on the ground. He began vomiting. He was carried out of the house where he lay until the arrival of Sub-Inspector Darkin, who found he was dead.

Dr. R. S. Begbie stated that rupture of an enlarged spleen and internal haemorrhage was the cause of the deceased's death.

Dr. Begbie was asked to establish the minimum interval between the fight and the deceased's death. He stated this could not be established, as it might be from one to 24 hours, or even five minutes.

The case was adjourned until this afternoon.

Mr. E. Wong Tape and Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Turner were among the passengers who sailed in the President McKinley yesterday.

ABUSIVE LETTERS

From Pacifists To Bishop

The Bishop of London, Dr. Winton Ingram, preaching at the Chapel Royal, St. James's, said he received 50 abusive letters in the week following his speech on pacifism at the Church Assembly on February 5.

In his address at the Assembly Dr. Ingram said: "The real danger to the peace of the world is the pacifists. There is no great danger of war if we are strong policemen with a truncheon to keep order."

Dr. Ingram said: "Those people who wrote to me said how annoyed they were in no uncertain fashion, but it is obvious they do not understand."

"We are all pacifists. Christians must be pacifists. But there is a difference between the policies of pacifism and non-defence."

"Democracy must not be at the heels of dictators, and despite those letters I still advocate that we must be strong. I maintain that the world must change its mind if it is to prevent a world-wide war."

"It is displeasing to God to see all this bickering between nations: Japanese hating Chinese, Germans suspicious of French, Arabs at the throats of Jews. Not only has the world to change its mind, but the Church. Christianity is fighting for its life, and it is not at all certain of winning."

"We must put God first in our education. It is the only way to keep Christianity alive."

CALIBRATION AND STATION PRACTICE

The calibration with full charge ammunition and station practice of B1, B2 and F1 guns, Stonecutters West Battery, postponed from previous dates, will take place on Tuesday, 23rd March, (spare days: 30th and 31st March), between 1000 hours and 1800 hours.

A man who fell in front of a Piccadilly Tube train at Holborn Station during the evening rush hour landed in the safety pit underneath the line. After the train had passed over him he was assisted to the platform by officials, unharmed. Traffic on the line was delayed for 10 minutes.

'CURES' FOR SLUMPS

Three articles on "How to Avoid a Slump," written by J. M. Keynes and published in "The Times," have provoked some comment. While the articles deal particularly with the situation in Great Britain, the general principles laid down are, of course, intended for universal application.

Mr. Keynes argues that it is time we began to think of preventing the kind of boom that would lead to another smash. With this end in mind, he would finance Britain's new armament programme largely out of taxation; he would favour a temporary rebate on tariffs "wherever this could be done without throwing British resources out of employment"; he would welcome imports at present, even though they result in an adverse balance of trade. Finally, he would set up a Government board, not to build public works now, but to have a considered programme of sound, useful projects ready as soon as they became necessary again.

All but the last of these proposals would doubtless be widely endorsed by "orthodox" economists; and if the last were opposed, it would be less because of the basic principle involved than because of doubts regarding its practical workings. Mr. Keynes contends that "the boom, not the slump, is the right time for austerity at the Treasury." Perhaps; but it is during the slumps that the Treasury has little money and during the booms that it has much. To carry out this programme as Mr. Keynes contemplates, statesmen would have to run counter to the state of the Treasury, counter to the dominant psychology of the country, counter almost to the frailties of poor human nature itself.

There is still another recommendation, however, concerning which Mr. Keynes is likely to win much less support from his economic colleagues. This is that "dear" money must be avoided "as we would hell-fire." His argument on this point is involved, not altogether clear, and far from convincing. What constitutes "dear" money is itself a matter of opinion. What Mr. Keynes is really urging is that money be kept artificially cheap by governmental policy. This can only be done by artificially increasing the volume of available bank credit. This, in turn, is merely another way of artificially increasing the volume of outstanding debt — for debt is merely credit looked at from the other side. New capital goods would be financed not merely out of real savings but out of bank credit. An excessive volume of cheap credit would certainly lead to overexpansion of productive facilities in wrong directions. Many authorities believe that it was precisely the cheap-money policies of 1922 to 1929, both in England and the United States, that made possible the boom and the consequent slump.

Mr. Keynes, in short, believes that the Government can control interest rates more wisely than the ordinary forces of supply and demand can. Governments have frequently believed that, regarding not only the price of money but of hundreds of other commodities. The results of their type of interference, however, have not been such as to encourage the belief in the minds of impartial observers.

Another Beauty

That fatal affinity which has been so often demonstrated between an interest in foreign affairs and a fondness for using long words of Latin or Greek origin seems to have been elegantly displayed once more in the assurance that when Herr von Ribbentrop went to the Foreign Office to talk about the colonial question his treatment of that subject is said to have been "peripheral." That is an obviously boss word which ought to be immediately admitted into the sacred company of terms like "unilateral," "para-military" (a gorgeous hybrid), or "global."

A "periphery" itself is strictly the line bounding a rounded surface, but in a figurative sense (and where would foreign affairs be if the figurative and the fanciful were removed from the language of the experts?) it means, according to the dictionary, "the outward bounds of a thing as distinguished from its internal region or centre." Herr von Ribbentrop, therefore, in his peripheral approach to the colonial question may be said to have dallied daintily on the outskirts of the subject instead of getting down to what the vulgar call brass tacks. Or, like the gentleman in the "Bab Ballads,"

He argued high, he argued low,
He also argued round about him.

A really first-class peripheral performer can run his own rings right round a subject without getting anywhere near what the dictionary calls "its internal region or centre."

Hats Off To "Peripheral"!

It would, however, be a great shame if the Foreign Office were allowed to monopolise such a fine and fairylike term as peripheral. Somebody ought to tell Lord Rothermere about it. It could then be worked into his latest campaign for bigger and better armament estimates. "In budgeting for a mere £1,500,000,000 for rearmament we are, therefore, toying on the periphery of the subject. We must be more firm and less peripheral; ten thousand millions is the least we can look at."

To personal and political enmity is added fear of an exile whose influence is "dangerous"

Why Stalin Wages Merciless War On Trotsky

THE question "Why does the Stalin administration attack Leon Trotsky?" has surely been answered by Moscow's recent treason trial with a wealth of detailed circumstantial evidence. Briefly it is this: "Joseph Stalin and his aides attack Trotsky because they are convinced that he is an enemy of the U.S.S.R., that he deliberately allied himself with the Fascist enemies of the U.S.S.R., that he built up a powerful organization inside and outside Russia to defeat the Stalin administration by any means and by any sacrifice of Russian lives, however great."

Nevertheless, in justice to Trotsky, one must give him credit for sincerity. He is a man of overweening ambition and great intellectual arrogance. Lenin, and Lenin only, could tame this proud spirit by sheer power of facts, by inflexible logic and that transcendental human quality which made Lenin the greatest figure in recent history.

Unlike David, Lenin never said of Stalin and Trotsky—that strong and stormy team of horses—these "sons of Zeruiah be too hard for me." While he lived he held them both in harness to work for the Soviet State, and despite squabbles and contradictions Lenin drew from Trotsky much that was of great value.

But Lenin was Lenin, and when Lenin died the contradictions flared out into open struggle. Like Lenin, Stalin kept in touch with the masses and knew that mass support was essential. Trotsky went his own way and preferred intrigue and conspirative cabals.

So Trotsky fell and went out from the U.S.S.R. discredited. They might have shot him here—perhaps now they wish they had. Despite Trotsky's opposition and activities in this country, Stalin knew that Trotsky had done good service and so spared his life. Now it seems that Stalin underestimated Trotsky's energy and power; perhaps underestimated also the ideological strength of Trotsky's movement in this country.

ALTHOUGH Trotsky's hostility to Stalin has a deep ideological foundation and dates far earlier than the Bolshevik revolution—it goes back to the period when Trotsky was an independent semi-Menshevik continually attacking the ideas of Lenin, of whom Stalin was always a most devoted supporter—there is also a personal divergence between Stalin and Trotsky. It is based not only on the former's devotion to Lenin but also on differences of character and other reasons. Stalin's chief characteristics are will power, perseverance and the ability to "think things out to the end." Whereas Trotsky had a more brilliant intellect and was sometimes able to jump where Stalin plodded, he nevertheless lacked what the English mean by the word "grit"—the English mean by the word "grit" the word "grit" which is the "character" or "stiffness" of purpose and consistency of action. Then, too, it must not be forgotten that certain lukewarm officers appointed by Trotsky. Trotsky sent a telegram of protest.

"Western" exiles who lived in comparative ease and full security abroad while Stalin and his comrades in Russia bore "the burden and the heat of the day" in constant danger, and also the actual fact of arrest, exile and execution. Small wonder that like the first hired "labourers in the vineyard" the Bolsheviks who had remained in Russia were inclined to look askance at the "Westerners," especially Trotsky, who did not join the Communist party until 1917 and almost in no time was advanced to one of the highest positions in the Soviet State.

Two instances of the clash between Stalin and Trotsky during the civil war following the revolution are worth citing to illustrate their antagonism. On the first occasion Stalin, then a prominent figure in the Supreme Soviet War Committee and a member of the "Politburo" of the party, was sent by Lenin with a mission to the Red Army headquarters where Trotsky, as it happened, was holding an important war council. Trotsky had ordered a sentry to allow no interruption, but Stalin, with Lenin's mandate, rightly brushed the guard aside and entered the council room.

Next morning Trotsky had his troops paraded and announced that Comrade "X"—naming the sentry—had been condemned to death for disobedience of orders. Then he added theatrically that in view of the former gallant conduct of Comrade "X" he, Trotsky, as commander-in-chief of the Red Army, gave the man a free pardon.

This story may be apocryphal, although I heard it soon after my arrival in Moscow fifteen years ago from a man who ought to have known. The story continues that Stalin went back to Lenin and spoke sharply of Trotsky's Napoleonic methods. (Perhaps, it is not a mere coincidence that throughout the recent trial the word "Bonapartism" was repeatedly used to define the programme of the Trotskyist conspirators.) Lenin is alleged to have replied much as Lincoln did when they told him that Grant drank too much whisky: "I don't care what he does so long as he beats the enemy."

As I said, this story may well be fiction, but fiction is sometimes truer than truth because it can bring up to the surface things that are underlying.

The second case is definitely authentic. Stalin had saved Lenin from the Volga—now named Stalin—and then to the goal of his insatiable ambition. He had satiated his ambition by using vigorous methods which involved the dismissal or shooting of certain lukewarm officers appointed by Trotsky. Trotsky sent a telegram of protest.

Klementy Voroshiloff, the present Commissar of Defence, stated some years ago that this telegram still exists in the Red Army archives with a brief note in Stalin's hand-writing scrawled across it: "Pay no attention."

It was inevitable that two men of such different calibre should become antagonists. Trotsky's main-spring was personal ambition, whereas Stalin was "Lenin's disciple and a prolonger of Lenin's work," as he told me himself on Christmas Day of 1933. In other words, Stalin from the outset was true to the Bolshevik ideology, whereas Trotsky from the outset to his present lamentable position was a Trotskyist first, last and always.

FROM 1929 on, during the first years of exile at Prinkipo Island near Constantinople, but undoubtedly was preparing his future action. Once arrived in Norway he set himself to spur the development of plans already made. Trotskyist centres—units of the so-called "Fourth International"—had been established at various points, notably in Paris, where Trotsky's chief henchman was Jacques Doriot, now definitely a Social-Fascist; at Barcelona, where the Trotskyists last Summer out-numbered the orthodox Bolsheviks, and at New York, where Jay Lovestone and John Pepper caused on Trotsky's behalf a schism in the American Communist party from which it has hardly yet recovered.

Last but not least, Trotskyist activity was great in the U.S.S.R., as the recent trial showed. True, it was confined to a comparatively small group of intellectual leaders, who—perhaps again sincerely—regarded the Stalinist regime as a perversion of their revolutionary ideals. As before, Trotsky's theories had no appeal to the masses nor did the exile attempt to make any. He staked everything on a "palace revolution" to be brought about by a Soviet defeat in war which he believed inevitable.

On this card—war—Trotsky staked not only his chances of success but also the lives of his followers here. With an incredible cynicism according to the charges made at the recent trial, he ordered them to work for their country's defeat, ordered them to hasten war so that defeat might come quickly; ordered them to commit acts of sabotage and terrorism to make defeat easier and speedier; ordered them to do everything in their power to ruin the Stalinist regime and bring him to the goal of his insatiable ambition.

It was long known to the Soviet authorities that "underground" communication existed between Trotskyists abroad and their former associates here, but it was not until the Kiroff murder in the Winter of 1934 that it was realized how dangerous such contacts might be. Karl Radek and others at the recent trial avowed they knew beforehand that an attempt was to be made on Kiroff's life. They avowed also their own plans to assassinate other leaders—by Trotsky's orders.

It is thus possible to reconstruct the underlying circumstances of the Kiroff case, which was somewhat of a mystery to the outer world, and of the Zinovieff-Kameneff trial of last August, which was also difficult for foreigners to understand. The assassin of Kiroff may perhaps have had a personal motive which would put his act to a certain extent in the category of a "crime passionnel," but that was only a small and, so to speak, accidental phase of the whole affair.

The true motive now appears to have been political, as an opening stroke in a terroristic campaign against Soviet leaders. It is quite possible that the assassin Nikolayeff himself hardly realized this, but that makes little difference. History shows that assassins of great men, from Lincoln and long before to Kiroff recently, have been mostly, though not always, unbalanced characters with real or fancied grievances, who have been impelled to the fatal deed, sometimes without their own knowledge, by a sinister force in the background.

THE question next arises: Why did the Trotskyists abandon the Bolshevik position of refusing to commit individual assassinations? To answer this it is necessary to realize that when Lenin pronounced himself against individual acts of terrorism it was not for humanitarian or legalistic motives. Lenin condemned the terroristic policy of the social revolutionaries on purely practical grounds, because he always believed in the action of masses and considered individual acts insignificant or even negative as compared with mass action. If mass action was possible, Lenin asserted, there was no reason or purpose for individual killings.

Trotsky, on the other hand, is an individualist who, as I have said, only joined the Communist party in 1917 and who, as this and the earlier trial show—not to mention the course taken by the Trotskyist movement since Lenin's death—had little contact with the masses. Trotsky's own knowledge and the information he received from associates in Russia must have told him there was no hope for the success of his views or of his and their accession to power so long as Stalin, Ordjonikidze, Voroshiloff, Kaganovich and Molotov—not to mention Kiroff—remained alive. Whether Trotsky liked it or not the only logical conclusion, therefore, was that these Soviet leaders must be eliminated. It was a contradiction of Lenin's theory because the circumstances were different. It—and a foreign war—were the only possible openings for a Trotskyist restoration.

DAMAGE TO BRITISH

FINNISH COMPLAINT OF DELAYED ORDERS BECAUSE OF REARMAMENT

(SPECIAL TO "CHINA MAIL")

Helsingfors, To-day.

The drastic influence which the British rearmament programme is exerting on the export trade of industrial machines, iron and steel manufactured goods, is being seriously felt in many countries.

FINLAND IS BEING ESPECIALLY HIT, SINCE SHE HAS ALWAYS DEPENDED ON ENGLAND FOR HER INDUSTRIAL AND AGRICULTURAL EQUIPMENT.

The Finnish newspapers point out that following the principle of purchasing from countries that purchased from her, Finland has maintained very satisfactory trade relations with England.

However, during recent months indefinite delays in delivery and, at times, complete inability on the part of British industrialists to fulfil orders, are having a disastrous effect on commerce.

It is declared that the situation has become so reversed in England that she is being forced to import articles which she formerly manufactured herself and exported.

The papers are of the opinion that the artificial situation brought about by the armaments rush will be detrimental in the long run to world production and trade.

DELAYED ORDERS

The leader of the Finnish delegation at the British Trade Fair,

Dr. Ramsay, declared in London yesterday that Finland would be glad to continue buying from England but must have some guarantee that orders will be fulfilled and delivery made within a reasonable length of time.—Trans-Ocean.

EGYPTIAN COTTON EXPORTS

Achieve New Record Last Year

Cairo, To-day.
Exports of Egyptian cotton since September last year have achieved a new record.

This is due to the international rearmament programmes and to the lack of high quality cotton on the American market.

At the end of February statistics showed that 804,000 bales had been exported, representing an increase of 13 per cent. over the similar period last year, when the figure was 727,000 bales.—Trans-Ocean.

BADMINTON SEMI-FINALS TO-DAY

THE MIXED DOUBLES CHAMPIONSHIP

HUI AND MISS U. KHOO FAVOURED

H.K.'S BEST ON VIEW

(By "ADREM")

SOME very entertaining badminton should be witnessed at King's College this evening, when the Semi-Finals of the Mixed Doubles Championship of the Colony will be decided.

THE BIG GAME OF THE EVENING WILL BE THE ENCOUNTER BETWEEN P. K. HUI AND MISS U. KHOO, AND L. A. CARVALHO AND MISS C. SILVA. WHEN THE FORMER PAIR, WHO PLAY FOR THE UNIVERSITY, PLAYED AGAINST RECREIO "A," THE MIXED DOUBLES CHAMPIONS, A SHORT WHILE AGO, THEY WERE RESPONSIBLE FOR WINNING THE ONLY THREE GAMES THAT THE UNDERGRADUATES OBTAINED. AS A RESULT, THEY ARE BOUND TO START FIRM FAVOURITES THIS EVENING.

An analysis of these pairs is rather difficult. Carvalho, in the Men's League, has been about the most consistent Recreio player, but I understand that he is not as keen on the mixed game. He is very fast in covering the court, serves well and smashes with great power, but he has not the subtleties of Hui, who is an amazingly difficult man to beat in any type of game.

RECREIO "B" BADMINTON WIN OVER 'VARSITY

Barros And Xavier
In Limelight

V.R.C. IN WINNING VEIN

Recreio "B" defeated University "B" by 6 games to 3, a larger margin than anticipated, in the "A" Division of the Men's Doubles Badminton League last evening.

H. A. Barros and A. E. Xavier combined excellently to win their three games from the Undergraduates.

In the "B" Division, St. Andrew's "B" proved too weak for the Vic-

Varsity Concede Walk-Over In Mixed-Doubles League

L. A. Carvalho, who is scheduled to play to-night in the Mixed Doubles Championship, Semi-Final Round, is down with malaria and may have to scratch unless the game is postponed.

University have conceded a walk-over to Recreio "B" in the Mixed Doubles Badminton League, as they cannot field a team for next Friday evening's match.

toria Recreation Club, who beat them by 6 games to 3 on the mainland.

RECREIO "B" BEAT 'VARSITY

At King's Park last night, Recreio "B" beat the University by 6 games to 3:

H. A. Barros and A. E. Xavier (Recreio "B")
beat D. Kwok and S. C. Tai 21-8 beat S. K. Hui and C. K. Lee 21-19
beat T. F. Yong and H. C. Goh 21-8
N. A. Beltrao and E. A. E. Alves (Recreio "B")
beat Kwok and Tai 21-15
lost to Hui and Lee 11-21
beat Yong and Goh 21-19

Miss Silva is a slightly better player than Miss Khoo. She has had a great deal of experience and never loses her head. In addition, she has a very reliable service, which will be a most necessary asset against a player like Hui, who has a distinct partiality for anything a few inches over the net.

It is in this department that Miss Silva should have an edge over her opposite number. Miss Khoo, the last time I saw her play, was inclined to be weak in this respect, and unless she has improved considerably, she will not score very often on her own service.

'VARSITY PAIR FAVOURED

The University players should enter the final, but I should not be surprised in the slightest degree if it does not take them three sets.

I do not think that S. A. Gray and Miss Alison Mackenzie will have much of a chance against M. A. Oliveira and Miss Mylthie Silva. Apart from the question of combination—the latter pair have played together for years—Gray is not the player that Oliveira is.

The latter has earned for himself, in recent games, the reputation of being a shaky starter and without doubt, he is inclined to nervousness in the early stages, but for that matter, Gray also takes some time to settle down. Oliveira is a strong finisher and this will probably weigh the balance in favour of the Portuguese pair.

BETTER IN LEAGUE

There is not a great deal to choose between the two ladies. Miss Silva has probably shown up better in the League, but better partners have had a great deal to do with this.

Miss Mackenzie has rather a tendency to lose her head in the face of a smash, but has some adroit touches at the net.

MIXED DOUBLES SEMI-FINAL

(King's College, 8.30 p.m.)

P. K. Hui and Miss U. Khoo v L. A. Carvalho and Miss C. Silva
M. A. Oliveira and Miss M. Silva v S. A. Gray and Miss A. Mackenzie

lost to Kwok and Tai 9-21
beat Hui and Lee 21-8
lost to Yong and Goh 15-21

RUMJAHN FULLY EXTENDED

Luk's Remarkable Performance

VETERANS STAGE COMEBACK

(By "ADREM")

Ng Sze-kwong, one-time champion of the Colony, who has been out of competitive tennis for some time, made a remarkable come-back in partnership with Hon Luen-fung in the Open Doubles Championship of the Colony at the Hong Kong C.C. yesterday in fine, but sultry weather. Ng showed that he has retained much of his old mastery and ably supported by his partner, also in the veteran stage, they beat H. T. Bee and H. Y. Hsu in straight sets.

It was a real pleasure to watch Ng. He never appeared in any hurry and exploited a sound chopped forehand when receiving service, which invariably had his opponents in difficulties. His courtcraft was an education. He never played a thoughtless stroke and varied his pace very cleverly. Hon Luen-fung was a very reliable partner while Bee and Hsu were much too impetuous, both making numerous errors.

RUMJAHN EXTENDED

H. D. Rumjahn, last year's runner-up in the singles, as expected won his game, but had quite a fight to do so. I am not suggesting that he was ever in any danger of defeat, but in the second set he was forced to pull out everything he knew to prevent his opponent drawing level. Luk gave a remarkably plucky display and was continually on the attack. He exploited excellent driving on both hands and kept his opponent running from side to side with well-placed shots into the corners. If he had shown more aptitude on the forecourt, he might have been responsible for the biggest upset of the year.

As it happened, he was loathe to follow up his driving with the result that he almost invariably broke down in the sustained driving bouts, in which Rumjahn was mostly kept on the defensive.

POWERFUL SERVICE

Rumjahn played very well indeed. He served with power and precision and was reliable off the ground. He never seemed particularly anxious to take the net, however, and seemed quite content to wait for his opponent's mistakes.

In the other open games, Crawford easily beat his clubmate, G. C. Burnett while Capt. Coppinger, a newcomer to local tennis, swamped S. S. Chin, only conceding one game in two sets.

MARATHON STRUGGLE

The first match in the Club Mixed Doubles was played off yesterday and resulted in a win for F. V. Harrison and Miss Dodwell over A. S. Read and Miss Armstrong after a marathon strug-

INTERESTING OPEN DOUBLES ENCOUNTER

Good Recreio Pair
On View

NG KAM-CHUEN
SHOULD WIN

Three singles and one doubles matches are down for decision this afternoon, in the Colony Open Tennis Championships on the Hong Kong C. C. courts.

The best game should be seen in the doubles between A. V. Gosano and A. V. Remedios, and F. H. Kwok and S. W. Liang. The latter pair play a steadier brand of tennis and should just manage to win.

H. Owen Hughes is meeting Ng Kam-chuen in the singles, and can hardly expect to win against an opponent who combines powerful ground-strokes with excellent volleying.

A fine struggle should be witnessed between Chan Kam-hung and Li Kwan-hung which the former, who plays a good all-court game, should win.

TO-DAY'S PROGRAMME

Open Singles

F. V. Harrison v Mr. Nai-kwong
H. Owen-Hughes v Ng Kam-chuen
Li Kwan-hung v Chan Kam-hung

Open Doubles

F. H. Kwok and S. W. Liang v A. V. Gosano and A. V. Remedios
Club Handicap Singles
C. C. Stark (+3.6) v G. Polglase (-1.6)

Club Handicap Doubles

F. R. Nigel and R. M. King (+4.6) v E. M. Bryden and D. S. Robb (+1.5)

Club Mixed Doubles

W. Wooding and Miss Ward v J. C. Pool and Miss Allen
R. L. D. Wodehouse and Mrs. Wodehouse v J. F. L. Smalley and Miss Smalley

The standard of tennis was fairly good, both ladies being reliable and making some excellent recoveries. The winners won the first set after a great struggle and appeared good for a straight sets' victory when they levelled the score after trailing 2-4. Read and Miss Armstrong were not to be denied, however, and won the next two games, although they had to fight hard for the second, when the opposition saved at least half a dozen set-points.

The final stanza played in semi-darkness, was won fairly easily. Miss Armstrong showed distinct promise and was the better of the two ladies. She has a reliable service, hits the ball very hard on the forehand, and is not afraid of a volley.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

Open Singles

A. Crawford beat G. C. Burnett 6-0, 6-2
Capt. Coppinger beat S. S. Chin 6-0, 6-1

H. D. Rumjahn beat Luk Chun-cheung 6-1, 7-5

Open Doubles

Ng Sze-kwong and Hon Luen-fung beat H. T. Bee and H. Y. Hsu 6-1, 6-4

Club Championship Singles

B. O'M. Deane received a w/o from F. A. Redmond

Club Handicap Singles

J. Thomson (-1.6) beat R. M. King (+3.6) 7-5, 6-3, 8-3

A. K. Mackenzie (+1.6) beat R. K. Valentine (+1.6) 6-1, 7-5

A. C. I. Bowker (Scr.) beat T. C. Monaghan (-4.6) 3-6, 6-1, 7-5

Club Mixed Doubles

F. V. Harrison and Miss Dodwell beat A. S. Read and Miss Armstrong 8-6, 4-8, 6-3

AB. JENKINS' RACER FOR 360 M.P.H.?

LAND SPEED RECORD CHALLENGE

PERFECTING CAR OF 200 INCH WHEELBASE

AEROPLANE FLAPS INNOVATION

(By STEVE SNIDER)

Connersville, Indiana.

AB. JENKINS, America's hope to better the world land speed record held by Sir Malcolm Campbell, works daily with a corps of engineers on body designs of a new twin motored racing car he expects to exceed 360 m.p.h. In his famous Bluebird, Campbell attained a new mark of 301 m.p.h. on the Bonneville Salt Flats of Utah in 1935.

"MANY TECHNICAL PROBLEMS ON THE CAR STILL ARE UNSOLVED, BUT I BELIEVED IT WILL HIT 350 OR 360 M.P.H. WITHOUT ANY DIFFICULTY," JENKINS SAID. "NATURALLY, I PLAN TO USE THE SAME 13 MILE STRAIGHTWAY CAMPBELL USED. IT'S THE BEST SPEEDWAY SURFACE IN THE WORLD."

Jenkins holds 144 speed and endurance records set last summer over an oval course on the Utah salt beds. This will be his first major attempt with a super-powered car. "One of the chief problems in designing a racing car capable of exceeding 350 m.p.h. is to keep it balanced at terrific speeds," he said. "At this speed a car has a tendency to take off like an aeroplane, thus throwing off the steering."

SHANGHAI FOOTBALL SENSATION

C.N.A.A.F. "ON MAT" FOR RIOT

LOYALS—TUNG HWA MATCH SEQUEL

Shanghai, March 9.

The Shanghai Football Association Executive yesterday considered the reports on the abandonment of the match at the Stadium between the Loyals Regiment and the Tung Hwa. It was held that the responsibility for the control of the arrangements at the Stadium rested on the China National Amateur Athletic Federation.

The Shanghai Football Association decided that the match should be replayed at the Canidrome at an early date, and that until further order the Stadium ground should be out of bounds for football matches played under S.F.A. auspices.

It was disclosed that only six constables of the City Government Police were on duty at the Stadium on Saturday and they could not handle the disorder which arose.

FREE ENTRY

Apparently at half-time permission is given for the entry of spectators free of charge. This arrangement results in the congregation of large numbers many of whom have little or no knowledge of the game. Their entry and presence is considered to be mainly responsible for the disorder which occurred.

It was felt that both teams—the Loyals and the Tung Hwa—played clean and sporting football and admirably conducted themselves in trying circumstances when the crowd invaded the playing ground.

"It's going to be just as hard to figure a design for brakes powerful enough to stop a racer from 350 m.p.h."

Jenkins, an adviser in the experimental department of an automobile company, said he planned to install two 1,800 horsepower engines on a 200-inch wheelbase chassis.

Windtunnel tests on the streamlined body design already are under way and final tests likely will be accepted late in March, Jenkins said.

HORIZONTAL RUDDER

"We plan to use a horizontal rudder to keep the front of the car from sailing off the ground," the veteran driver explained.

"For the brakes, something new must be designed. Ordinary brake styles—no matter how strong—are out of the question."

"I am having flaps, or side wings, similar to those on an airplane, fixed up to assist in the braking."

HINGED WINGS

These hinged wings will be operated by a lever and pulled open by the motor when I want to stop. It may take a lot of experimenting before we get what we want."

Jenkins sought aid from several of the nation's leading engineers, including Angie Duesenberg.

He said he also planned to rebuild his Mormon Meteor, in which he established his 144 marks last year, and attack all records.

V.R.C. Badminton Hopes

THE Victoria Recreation Club badminton players will make a strong bid for the Junior Badminton Championship next season. Several of their exponents can be seen at the Club daily at 7 p.m. learning the fundamentals of the game. They will probably enter two teams.

They also showed the right spirit in at once arranging to protect the referee from the crowd's attack.

Ab. Jenkins, above, one of America's leading motor-racing drivers, will shortly attempt to lower Sir Malcolm Campbell's world land speed record in a specially constructed vehicle.

RECREIO SHOULD DEFEAT NAVY IN TO-DAY'S GAME

Keen Clash Is Anticipated

A. V. GOSANO NOT PLAYING

The Navy will meet Recreio this afternoon in their postponed First Division League football game at Causeway Bay, and in view of the latter's brilliant performance last Saturday should collect both points.

A. V. Gosano will not be playing as he is engaged in the Colony Tennis championships, and his place at centre-forward will be filled by Beltrao, while C. F. Remedios will occupy the pivotal position.

Souza will return to the side, in goal and V. Marques, who played in goal in the last game, will be seen in his original position at left half. The only other change is Maxwell, who will be playing in Fernandes's position, at right-half.

In spite of these changes, Recreio should defeat the Navy who are uncertain of the composition of their team, and who are only playing this fixture in an endeavour to complete their programme before the end of April, prior to the departure of the Fleet for the North.

Recreio:—U. B. Souza; Silva and Alves; Maxwell, C. F. Remedios and V. Marques; Campos, B. Gosano, Beltrao, Gomes and A. Alves.

NAVY TEAM FOR TO-DAY'S MATCH

The Navy team to meet Club de Recreio in a re-arranged First Division football match at Causeway Bay to-day, kick-off at 5.20 p.m. is as follows:

Keeble; Regier and Wolverson; Laister, Shearman and Love; Bliman, Anderson Phillips, Wallace and Tippet.

ONE FOOTBALL GAME FOR WEEK-END

On account of the Combined Manoeuvres, only one match will be played in the Hong Kong Football League over the week-end. On Sunday, South China "A" will meet Eastern at Caroline Hill in a First Division match commencing at 4.30 p.m.

LIMITATION OF SERVICEMEN

SHIELD FINAL CLASH

The forthcoming Interport football game against Macao has aroused considerable interest in Junior football circles and there is much speculation as the composition of the team, which will make the trip to Macao on April 11.

Unfortunately this date coincides with the final of the Shield competition and it is probable that none of the players from the Engineers and the Rifles, the two finalists in the Junior Shield competition, will be available, there is however sufficient material from the other clubs for a good side to be raised.

At the last Council meeting of the Football Association, a letter was read from Mr. F. Silva, of Macao, requesting that a team composed of Junior players be sent to Macao, at some time convenient to the local Association, and the matter was referred to the Management Committee.

SERVICE PLAYERS

The letter further stated that the Interport should be run on the same lines as the Hong Kong-Shanghai Interport, in which case only three Service players will be included in the team, but it is understood that Macao are being approached on this question.

Few of the members of the Football Association seem to watch junior games outside of matches in which their own teams are playing, and the final selection of the team will no doubt be difficult.

REPRESENTATIVE

It has been suggested by a member of the Council that the most equitable solution would be to make the team as representative as possible and as there are no less than 23 clubs playing in the Second and Third Divisions, there should be no difficulty in selecting a side, even if the rule limiting Service players to three was observed.

Commissioned Gunner C. G. Warren, one of the selectors of the Interport team, has been appointed manager of the team.

BIG SPORTS CENTRE FOR SHANGHAI

AMBITIOUS SCHEME IS ANNOUNCED

GYMNASIUM, ICE RINK AND POOL

A SCHEME to furnish Shanghai with a modern, well-equipped athletic hall and indoor arena has been developed. The new establishment, which will cost approximately $1,750,000, including land, equipment and buildings, will be situated on a plot of ground at the corner of Burkill and Myburgh Roads with an entrance from Bubbling Well Road.

The announcement of this project was made yesterday by the board of directors of the new athletic hall, which will be known as the Olympia. Many business men of the city are on the board while Dr. C. T. Wang, Chinese Ambassador to the United States, is to be a patron.

The board includes the following: Messrs. N. F. Allman, A. D. Bell, M. Speelman, James H. Lee, H. F. Payne, Dr. C. Kuangson Young, William Z. L. Sung, N. L. Sparke, F. Siemssen, Wm. P. Hunt, R. T. McDonnell, E. A. Meyerink, T. C. Pan, G. M. Rosse, C. B. Morrison.

ICE SKATING RINK

Architect's plans have already been completed. They call for the construction of a building with two floors, fitted with a refrigeration system.

The first floor will contain a swimming pool and ice-skating rink while the gymnasium will be on the second floor. The building itself will cost approximately $700,000 while almost $250,000 is to be spent in refrigeration and athletic equipment, furniture and fixtures.

320 FOOT FRONTAGE

The building will occupy 11 mow of land, the cost of which is placed at $750,000. The structure, when completed, will have a 320 foot frontage on Burkill Road with a 220 foot frontage on Myburgh Road. A private roadway more than twenty feet wide, will lead from Bubbling Well Road to the main entrance. Room for parking space has been provided.

The Olympia will be capitalised $2,000,000. It also will be incorporated under the China Trade Act, United States.

TOM PARKER TO MANAGE SOUTHAMPTON

London, February 18.

Mr. Tom Parker, manager of Norwich City, has been appointed secretary-manager of Southampton, for which club he formerly played as full-back. With the consent of the Norwich directors he will take up his new duties shortly before Easter.

Parker, who was born at Southampton, began his football career with the "Saints" in the first season after the War. In seven seasons with Southampton he played in 275 League and Cup matches, and was capped for England against France in 1925.

FANLING GOLF RESULTS

A. D. Humphreys with a card of 80-9 71, qualified for Adamson Cup from a field of 16. In the Bogey (Par) Pool competition played over the week-end at Fanling, A. E. Lissaman (3) won from 25 entries with a card of 4 up. Other scores were G. S. Chambers (20) 3 up; G. C. Worrall (10) 1 up; and W. J. S. Key (9) all square.

HOCKEY TEAM MAY COME

In response to an invitation by Club de Recreio, representative tennis and badminton teams of Macao will visit Hong Kong on Saturday, March 27. The visit will be in the nature of a return sports meeting to the contest which was held in Macao last October.

The players selected for Macao's "A" team are J. Senna Fernandes (Capt.), A. H. Mello, Alex Boyol, Alfredo Silva, Jose Boyol and Alberto Jorge.

Macao's "B" team will consist of H. Bradley, L. Mello, Y. C. Yuen, E. Silva, A. Pereira and Luiz Gomes.

Playing in the Mixed Doubles will be the following pairs: Miss Helena Ribeiro and A. H. Mello; Mrs. H. Bradley and Jose Boyol; Miss Vera Senna Fernandes and J. Senna Fernandes.

BADMINTON TEAM

The badminton team has not yet been selected. Edmundo Silva, the Captain, states that the players will include several youngsters.

It is possible that the Macao hockey team will be included in the visit to Hong Kong. A match will be played in Hong Kong, stated Lieut. F. O'Costa, if the Shanghai hockey team does not happen to visit Macao at this time.

The Macao Lyceum (School) teams will also visit Hong Kong and will engage clubs in badminton and ping-pong. It is expected that the school will meet the Central British School in a friendly soccer encounter of satisfactory arrangements are made.

ANGUS SEED TO MANAGE BARNSELEY

London, February 14.

Mr. Angus Seed, manager of Aldershot, was last night appointed secretary-manager of Barnsley.

Mr. Seed started his playing career in 1921 with Leicester Fosse, and has been since continuously connected with the game as player, trainer and manager. He is an elder brother of Mr. James Seed, manager of Charlton.

Katherine Rawis, above, who represented the United States at the World Olympiad in Berlin last August, will be among the party of five swimmers invited to Japan for a series of events next summer.

AMERICAN SWIMMERS FOR JAPAN

TWO OLYMPIC CHAMPIONS INCLUDED IN TEAM

U.S. FEDERATION'S PROTEST

Shanghai, March 11.

A TEAM of five American swimmers and divers, including one girl, will compete in Japan this summer, it was decided by the American Swimming Federation last Tuesday, according to a special dispatch to the "Asahi" from New York states the "Japan Advertiser" on March 6. The squad's personnel includes leaders in the free style, breast stroke and back stroke swims and in diving. Those chosen to make the trip are:

JACK MEDICA, WINNER OF THE OLYMPIC CHAMPIONSHIP IN THE 400-METRE FREE STYLE RACE AT BERLIN, AND RUNNER-UP IN THE 1,500-METRE EVENT. HE HAS COMPETED IN JAPAN TWICE IN THE PAST AND WILL APPEAR AT THE IMPERIAL UNIVERSITY INDOOR POOL ON APRIL 29 ON HIS WAY BACK TO THE UNITED STATES FROM AUSTRALIA.

Adolf Kiefer, Olympic champion in the 100-metre back stroke swim. He holds the world's records for all distances in the dorsal style of swimming.

John Higgins, foremost American breast stroke swimmer who placed fourth in the 200-metre breast stroke event at Berlin last summer. He is an exponent of the powerful but tiring butterfly stroke which was introduced by American swimmers here two years ago.

Elbert Root, winner of second place in the high diving event at the 11th Olympiad.

MISS K. RAWLS

Miss Katherine Rawls, runner-up in the springboard diving seventh place winner in the 100-metre free style swim at the Berlin Games. She is a star all-round naiad, being among the best in the United States in the back stroke and breast stroke events as well as in the free style swim and in diving.

Miss Rawls is the record holder for the 300-yard individual medley race, which is composed of 100-yard laps in the free style, breast stroke and back stroke swims. She won the U. S. national championship last summer in this event for the sixth time in succession.

KIPHUTH INVITED

The American Swimming Federation has not approved Japan's proposal that Kiefer's coach, Mr. Brauminger, accompany the team, but suggests that Mr. Robert Kiphuth, the United States Olympic swimming coach who has already visited Japan twice as mentor of American swimming teams, again make the trip, the paper reports.

However, if Japan insists on Mr. Brauminger, the A. S. F. will undoubtedly accede to the request, it is believed. The official announcement on this issue is expected within the next few days.

ANONYMOUS £500 TO HELP SUSSEX

In a sporting effort to reduce Sussex County C.C.'s deficit—they lost £1,994 last season—a member who prefers to remain anonymous has sent £500. The secretary has offered to accept a reduction of £50 a year for three years and the assistant secretary 10 per cent. The players contribute their share with a 5 per cent. reduction.

John Higgins, above, the world famous American breast-stroke swimmer, who came third in the Berlin Olympics last August, is seen using his famous butterfly-breast-stroke. He will travel to Japan with a party of five American swimmers next summer.

Hertfordshire F. A.
Up In Arms

London, February 18.—The Hertfordshire F.A. has notified the F.A. that it is opposed to the proposed change in the rules which will permit boys between the ages of 15 and 17 to be signed on as probationary professionals with the consent of their parents or guardians.

Surrey County F.A. at last night's meeting also decided to oppose the proposed new rule, but agreed to the proposed alteration of Rule 29 to compel clubs who employ amateur players to satisfy the F.A. that the player is not receiving consideration for his playing services.

After all, a couple of Indian golf caddies are not world-famous. But they became local heroes in South Africa overnight.

The reason was that they met A. H. Padgham, British open champion, and Alan Dailey, the Wan-

LINCOLN MEETING

OPENING OF FLAT RACING

MANY UPSETS ON FIRST DAY

HANDICAP OPEN

LONDON, TO-DAY.
THE FLAT RACING SEASON, WHICH IS EXPECTED TO BE A RECORD ONE, OPENED AT LINCOLN IN SENSATIONAL FASHION IN SUNNY BUT CHILLY WEATHER YESTERDAY, WHEN THERE WAS A SLIGHT FALL OF SNOW.

The first sensation was provided in the disqualification of Parkin, winner of the Canwick Maiden Plate, by the Stewards following the fall of two horses.

They suspended the jockey, Sammy Wragg, for the remainder of the meeting, so he cannot ride the quietly fancied Bonc in the Lincolnshire.

Boldness, winner of the Brocklesby Trial Handicap, paid 155 to 1 for a win on the totalisator. The daily double yielded £310 for ten shillings.

HAT-TRICK FOR JOCKEY

Ephraim Smith, who will ride Edgehill in the Lincolnshire, performed the "hat-trick" with three successive winners, while Gordon Richards drew blank in every race.

Everything is in readiness for the big race on Wednesday, which the betting shows to be as open as usual.

The going is excellent but heavy and it is not unlikely that an outsider will win.—Reuter.

BEN FOORD LOSES TITLE BOUT

FARR GIVEN POINTS VERDICT

MATCH OF FEW
THRILLS

LONDON, TO-DAY.
A CROWD OF 10,000 DISAPPOINTED SPECTATORS SAW TOMMY FARR, THE WELSH HEAVYWEIGHT BOXING CHAMPION, WIN THE BRITISH AND EMPIRE HEAVYWEIGHT BOXING TITLES LAST NIGHT AT THE HARRINGAY STADIUM.

He outpointed Ben Foord, the South African holder, in a 15 round contest.

Foord has only just won the title, beating Jack Petersen, of Wales, two months ago on a technical knock-out.

Last night's contest was very slow and uninteresting, too much clinching featuring the rounds.

Tommy Farr, after a diffident start, assumed the part of the aggressor in the third round when he carried a two-fisted attack to his opponent and drew blood from Ben Foord's nose.

In the fifth round, Farr came very near to being knocked out when Foord led with a straight left and followed up with a terrific right-swing, which, if it had connected would have knocked out the challenger, but the Welshman's clever defence saved him from danger.

Foord improved his style midway through the bout, being snappier in his punching and footwork. He landed two hard rights to Farr's jaw in the eighth round, but the latter retaliated with powerful attacks to the South African's body.

The last four rounds saw a very aggressive Foord, who landed lefts and rights to the head and body, but Farr shone at in-fighting and the Referee without any hesitation declared the Welshman the winner.—Reuter.

Third Division, in their Semi-Final Round clash which will take place on April 10 on Huddersfield's ground, at Leeds Road.

In the other Semi-Final Round tie, West Bromwich Albion will meet Preston on the Arsenal Ground, at Highbury.

£77,000,000 Revenue From Tobacco

London, To-day.
The Chancellor of Exchequer, answering a Parliamentary question in the House of Commons said that the approximate net amount of revenue derived from imported tobacco during 1936 was £77,770,000.—British Wireless.

ALLEGED MASSACRE

ABYSSINIAN AFFAIR IN COMMONS

FOREIGN OFFICE EVASION

(SPECIAL TO "CHINA MAIL")

LONDON, TO-DAY.
UNEASINESS OVER THE FATE OF THE POPULATION IN ABYSSINIA WAS EXPRESSED AT QUESTION TIME IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS YESTERDAY BY MR. ARTHUR HENDERSON, JR., LABOUR MEMBER FOR KINGSWINFORD

Mr. Henderson asked whether the League of Nations was not under an obligation to look after the welfare of nationals of a State that was still a member of the League.

"Can the League ignore the massacres that have taken place in Addis Ababa?" he asked.

Viscount Cranborne, the Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, replied that only the League of Nations could answer the question.

He declared that he had nothing to add to the answer he gave on March 11, when Mr. Henderson had asked whether the British Government would change its attitude on the Abyssinian question.—Trans-Ocean.

NAPHTHA DEPOSITS IN RUSSIA

Important Discovery Near Novorossisk

Moscow, To-day.

Important naphtha deposits have been discovered and are being exploited near Novorossisk.

Twenty wells have been bored and, although over a third of these are not yet in operation, a daily production of 150 tons of naphtha is being obtained, with a 40 per cent. gasoline content.

It is estimated that production this year will total 100,000 tons.—Trans-Ocean.

Mr. Kirkpatrick On Return Trip

Mr. W. M. Kirkpatrick, British representative in China of the Export Credits Department, who has been visiting Canton, sailed for Shanghai yesterday in the President Mackinley, accompanied by Mrs. Kirkpatrick.

Survivor's Story In Manila Factory Explosion

Manila, To-day.

"A deafening roar, then darkness. We thought it was the end of the world."

IT WAS IN THESE DRAMATIC WORDS THAT A SURVIVOR OF THE CATASTROPHE IN THE FLASH FIRECRACKER COMPANY TOLD HIS STORY TO REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT THIS MORNING.

The explosion in the factory occurred while the workers were collecting their salaries yesterday.

About 100 women and girls were employed in the factory and many were saved through jumping from the windows into a swamp in which the factory is situated.

BLOWN TO PIECES

The exact toll of the disaster is not yet known, owing to the difficulty in identifying the corpses. Most of the victims were blown to bits and many of those which escaped decomposition are unrecognisable.

It is reported, however, that at least 25 were killed and thirty injured.

BOY SCOUT HERO

These include a 17-year-old Boy Scout who dashed into the burning building in an heroic attempt to rescue the shrieking women and girls who were trapped in the raging inferno.

The blast rocked that section of Manila within a radius of two miles, and a number of nearby inhabitants suffered concussion.—Reuter.

HUGE FINE ON BANKER

Imposed In Italy In His Absence

Milan, To-day.

A fine of 9,000,000 lire has been imposed upon the head of a Swiss banking house in Milan, Herr Bornhauser.

The banker had been found guilty of infracting the Italian law for restriction of movements of foreign exchange across the Italian frontier.

Herr Bornhauser has fled to Switzerland to avoid being taken into custody, and the fine was imposed in his absence.—Trans-Ocean.

THE OLD WARNING CRY DECIED

Berlin, To-day.

Commenting on the hostile attitude adopted by a certain section of the foreign press towards the German and Italian replies to the western pact questionnaire, the semi-official organ "Deutsche Diplomatische-Politische Korrespondenz" points out that the old warning cry of "Germany's desire to obtain a free hand in the East" is being given abroad.—Trans-Ocean.

King Christian Visits Hitler

Berlin, To-day.

King Christian of Denmark visited Herr Hitler yesterday when he passed through Berlin en route for Copenhagen.

King Christian was returning after his winter vacation in the South of France.—Trans-Ocean.

RIGHT TO FLY NEUTRAL FLAG AS A RUSE

'Adda' Incident Detailed In Parliament

London, To-day.

The use of the British flag on a Spanish vessel in the recent "Adda" incident in Spanish waters, was the subject of a question in the Commons.

The Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, Lord Cranborne, in reply, described the circumstances in which destroyers were sent, in response to distress signals, to the assistance of a vessel using the call-sign of the British steamship, Adda.

Before these arrived, it was learnt that the ship in question was foreign and it is understood to have been the Spanish steamer Mar Cantabr o.

The employment of ruses, such as the use of a neutral flag by a merchant ship in order to escape capture by an enemy, Lord Cranborne added, "is a right which is well established under international law and this case would not therefore justify the representations which were suggested by the questioner.—British Wireless.

ITALIAN BRIGADES HELD UP

Salamanca, To-day.

The insurgent forces are still battering against the loyalists on the Guadalajara sector, where the Italian brigades are not making much progress.

On the Jarama River front, however, the rebels claim to be steadily pushing forward.—Trans-Ocean.

Air Commodore Charles Dempster Bruce has been appointed Air Officer Commanding No. 17 (Training) Group from a date next month.

GAS-MASKS COMPULSORY

New Czecho-Slovakian Decree

Prague, To-day.

Publication of a new law making possession of a gas-mask by every man, woman and child in Czecho-Slovakia compulsory, has resulted in the formation of 43 new gas-mask factories.

Instruction courses in the use of the masks, and general rules for defence against air raids, have been instituted by one large factory.

It is planned to institute similar courses throughout the country.—Trans-Ocean.

SHELLS ON RIVIERA ISLAND

While the three light divisions of the French Mediterranean Fleet were at target practice 10 5-inch shells landed on an inhabited island known as Porquerelles, one of the Hyeres group.

A number of children narrowly escaped injury when one of the shells buried itself in the earth a few yards away from where they were playing.

There is to be an official inquiry. It has also become known that a sailor of the submarine Doris was killed during the manoeuvres. At the moment when a 75mm. gun was discharged he was passing a gangway in the line of fire and the shell struck him full in the chest.
